Product Overview

*actual product may vary from photos

Hardware Installation and Operation

1. Connect the HDMI connector on the adapter cable to the HDMI output port on your HDMI-enabled source device (i.e. computer system).
2. Connect the VGA connector on the adapter cable to the VGA input port on your VGA-enabled display device (i.e. television, projector).
3. (Not typically required)
   Note: In the rare occurrence your HDMI source device does not provide enough power to convert the signal, an optional micro USB power port is included on the cable enabling you to add a USB Power source.
   Using your USB cable (not included) connect the USB type A connector to any USB power source. Then connect the Micro USB type B connector to the Micro USB power port on the Adapter cable.
4. Your HDMI video source will now appear on your VGA display.

FCC Compliance Statement

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation. Changes or modifications not expressly approved by StarTech.com could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

Industry Canada Statement

This Class B digital apparatus complies with Canadian ICES-003.

Cet appareil numérique de la classe [B] est conforme à la norme NMB-003 du Canada.
